SMALL VOTE IN PRIMARY

Nominate Legislators and Committeemen To.Day.

THE VIVA VOCE SYSTEM

This Will Be Used in Accordance wit Provisions of State Plan-Result to Be Known by IO o'Clock-List of Candidates.

The legislative primary, which will be held in Richmond to-day from 6 o'clock A. M. to 8 o'clock P. M., promises to be one of

M. to 8 o'clook P. M., promises to be one of the most uninteresting ever conducted here, and indications point to the casting of a very light vote.

The viva voce system will be used in to-day's voting, and the new registration books will be at the warious polling places, so it will be a controversy settled by the new electorate of the city.

It looks as if there may not be over 4,000 votes polled, no effort of consequence having been m to excite public interest in the struig. The City Committee will receive ad announce the returns at the Old Carket Hall, and they will likely be carly, as the viva woce system will featy facilitate the counting. It is expected that the result will be known as early as 10 o'clock. There are seven candidates for the House, and only five can be nominated.

There are seven candidates for the House, and only five can be nominated.

NO OPOSITION.

Mr. Harman, for the Senate, and Mr. Rowelle, for Circuit cierk, will have no opposition, and the candidates for the City Committee in five of the seven wards are equally fortunate.

Up in Lee and Clay Wards it is different. The field for the committee is pretty well filled up in both, and there are some pretty lively contests in progress.

likely that owing to their friendship for several of the House aspirants, most of them will go in.

The primary promises to be an exceptionally quiet one, and probably the smallest vote ever cast in the city in a general fight will be polled.

FOR THE HOUSE.

The candidates for the several places to be filled are as follows:

A MASS OF SORES. BUSBY SUES

Awful Suffering of a Boy from an Itching Humor.

"My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse, until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical college but its treatment did not do any good. At the time I was induced to try Cutteura Remedies he was so had that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cutteura Cintment on him on bandages as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuttoura Cintment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. I used the Cintioura say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healther boy you never Resolvent for his blood and how I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthler boy you never saw than he is to-day. creditors of Busby, alarmed by these representations, pressed him for settlement. It then continues:

"Confronted with the situation that these peremptory demands forced upon him, with business completly ended by said street car strike, and with the money market so constricted that accommodations at bank were difficult to be procured, plaintiff concluded that it was necessary for him to lay his situation before his creditors and ask for a little time for payment of his dobts. The said Dawson was in all that time consulting confidentially with plaintiff about his affairs, and seeing that his treachery was about to be disclosed, and hoping that by zeal in plaintiff's service he might still conceal it, he volunteered to go to plaintiff's creditors and lay his case before them, and ask them an extension of time. Plaintiff being wholly unsuspicious of said Dawson's treason, gave him a power of attorney to see his creditors and effect an extension of his debts, and said Dawson did see them and effect an arrangement with those who did not force plaintiff's notes were given, payable as to one-half of the claims in three months and as to the other half in six months. If plaintiff had not been molested by defendants and had concluded that an extension was necessary, he could easily have gotten his creditors to make the payments at intervals of three, six, nine and twelve months, and he would have had no difficulty whatever in meeting these payments as they matured."

the criticism of the papers on this score. According to Mr. Atkins there is to be found, if sought for, a lesson behind every such article printed in the daily papers. He drew illustrations of the evils of the iliquor traffer from a batch of "crimo" clippings he had in his hand. Accident and disaster items, he said, carried the warning that such things may come upon mankind suddenly and catch him unprepared.

Unfortunately, however, Mr. Atkins added, many go through life without looking for the lesson, and carclessly cast the paper aside after reading it and totally forget its contents.

LAWYERS Merchant Asks for Large Sum in Damages.

DEFENDANTS MAKE DENIAL Sol. L. Bloomberg, Luthur Dawson and Harry Marks Are Charged with

A sweeping declaration was field in a suit for $50,000 damages for alleged conspiracy by Mr. J. H. Busby, through his counsel, Messrs. W. L. Royall and B. O. Jaihes, in the Law and Equity Court yesterday against Mr. Sol L. Bloombers, lawyer and president of the Common Council; Mr. Luther Dawson, lawyer, and Mr. Harry Marks, the well known wholesale clothing merchant.

The declaration is a very voluminous document, and it alleges that the defendants conspired together for the purpose of injuring the business and credit of the plantiff with the view to forcing him into bankruptcy.

AGAINST MP. DAWSON.

The paper further declares that Mr. Dawson was confidential adviser of the plantiff, and that he used information thus gained against the plaintiff for the purpose of injuring his business.

He claims also that the defedants wrote letters to the creditors of the plaintiff with the intention of injuring him, and that the alleged conspiracy, in short, was for the purpose of getting the appointment of a receiver for the plaintiff's affairs, one of the lawyers to be receiver and the other counsel.

When the answer is filed the other side of the controversy will, in all likelihood, be fully stated, but in the meantime the defendants make sweeping denial of all the allegations in the declaration.

In the bill filed by Mr. Royall the basis of the wit is set out as follows:

He said that he could not conceive what had induced Busby to bring such a suit, as he knew that Mr. Dawson had labored faithfully in his behalf and had succeeded in securing the desired extensions.

Mr. Bloomberg further stated that Mr. Marks was one of Mr. Busby's creditors, and that his connection with the matter was at his sail-itation and for the benefit of Mr. Busby's said goods agreed by plaintiff to be paid for them.

"And the said Marks, by direction of the other two defendants, made exect copies of the letter aforesaid, and, by the erder, authority and direction of the said Dawsen and Bloomberg he mailed copies of it is a number of the ether crediters of plaintiff, amongst when plaintiff names M.
